

Graduating senior

- Will definitely use it
- Want to know if an item will be picked up/delivered
- There is no guarantee someone will give something away or someone won't pick up the item

Sophomore: moving out of the dorm in May

- Want to be able to filter items by categories (we added this)
- Add item names on the home page (we added this)
- Worried about safety: would prefer to meet in a centralized location, like the village

Sophomore

- Would use it to get smaller items within fryft range
- Hard to fit larger items like furniture in a fryft, would require renting an uhaul or borrowing a car (out of the scope of our project)

Junior

- I borrowed my friend's truck to pick up a mattress when I moved in this year, I am not very concerned about moving the item as long as it's free and in a good condition

Senior

- Picked up free couches from the street in August and loved them even though had to clean them
- Would definitely pick up items from someone else who's giving them away

USC Student

- Would use it to get rid of some things that they are no longer using, such as notebooks, hangers, etc
- Doesn't really mind that they are giving it for free because they would throw it away otherwise

Friend at USC

- Concerned about safety
- Even though it's mainly going to be used by USC students there is still a level of risk when meeting up with strangers

Classmate

- Think our UI is intuitive
- It doesn't need any instructions or an overview tab

Friend at another school

- May not be as convenient for other campuses
- USC has fryft

Classmate

- Wonders if delivery should be dealt with by users or through our platform
